

“Fear Not”

Within a world in which a society amused itself with death;
In which citizenship or the lack thereof determined who had basic rights and freedoms;
In which kings and the occasional queen could call for mass executions without question or consequence;
In which a powerful army controlled lands where its soldiers knew neither language nor culture yet were allowed to impose death with impunity;
In which religious and political authorities colluded not only to rob the poor but to convince them that their poverty was divinely ordained

Within that world, God initiated an invasion.

“And this shall be a sign for you: you will find a baby wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger.”

And the message of the angels then and now is,

“Fear not.”

“Fear Not”

Within a world in which a society amused itself with death;
In which citizenship or the lack thereof determined who had basic rights and freedoms;
In which kings and the occasional queen could call for mass executions without question or consequence;
In which a powerful army controlled lands where its soldiers knew neither language nor culture yet were allowed to impose death with impunity;
In which religious and political authorities colluded not only to rob the poor but to convince them that their poverty was divinely ordained

Within that world, God initiated an invasion.

“And this shall be a sign for you: you will find a baby wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger.”

And the message of the angels then and now is,

“Fear not.”

